

FORCES OF CZAR AND KAISER BOTH REPORT CAPTURE OF MANY GUNS AND PRISONERS

London.—Both the German and French official reports contain evidence that the allies' offensive movement is beginning to gather impetus, and is meeting with stubborn resistance from the German troops who have been left to hold the Western line while their comrades are battling with the Russians in the East.

The French have been particularly active in the Woerre region, where they have been trying to cut off the German force, which projects like an arrowhead to St. Mihiel, on the Meuse.

The German report shows that General Joffre's men have reached a point midway between St. Mihiel and Pont-a-Mousson, so they must have got across the German line of communications, but they lost 600 men in prisoners, and a large number of killed and wounded.

In the same region the French claim to have made substantial progress. There has also been more fighting around Ypres in Flanders. The battles in Poland continue almost without intermission, and while both Russians and Germans announce successes and the capture of prisoners and guns, apparently no decisive result has been reached in any series of contests. The Germans are still delivering heavy blows at the Russian center, where they assert they took 11,000 prisoners and forty machine guns, while to the south of Cracow, where the Russians are on the offensive, Grand Duke Nicholas records the capture of 4,000 prisoners, four guns and seven machine guns.

Another Russian force is holding the passes of the Carpathians, and is thus preventing the Austrians from sending relief to their army in Galicia. There is no news of the German troops who are advancing south of Mlawa, with the object of attempting to turn the Russian right, since Petrograd reported a partial success over them.

The marvelous recovery of the Serians and their defeat of four Austrian army corps which had penetrated half way across Serbia, remains the wonder of military men. The Crown Prince, in an address to his troops, told them that they had beaten and pursued the enemy with a rapidly unheard of in military history."

POSTOFFICES NOW ON SELF-SUSTAINING BASIS

Burleson Reports Department on Right Side of the Ledger

Washington.—Asserting that for the first time since its organization by Benjamin Franklin, the Postoffice Department is on a self-sustaining basis, Postmaster-General Burleson submitted to President Wilson his annual report. It records enormous growth in the department's business because of the parcel post and postal savings bank divisions, and recommends a program of postal legislation to increase the scope of the department's activities.

Mr. Burleson features his report with an estimate that a surplus of $3,569,545, the second of his administration, will be shown for the fiscal year of 1914, when all claims and charges have been met. On that showing he bases his declaration that the department "has been securely placed upon a self-sustaining basis."

Early action toward government ownership of telegraph and telephone lines and the taking over of these systems in Hawaii, Alaska and Porto Rico and transfer of the Alaska cable from War to Postoffice department control is recommended.

Fastest Merchant Ship

Portland.—On its trial trip the Hill steamer Great Northern, first of the $3,000,000 liners that will ply regularly between the Columbia river and San Francisco, has established herself at once as the "queen" ship of the American merchant marine—the fastest vessel afloat flying the Stars and Stripes. In a rough sea on her trial trip she made 24.7 knots an hour.

RUSSIANS REPEL FOE NEAR WARSAW

Capture of Polish Capital by German Army is No Nearer Than Last Week

Petrograd, via London—German frontal attacks on the Russian line to the west of Warsaw under cover of night were successfully repulsed by the Russians, according to trustworthy information reaching Petrograd Wednesday morning. At many points along the front the Russians succeeded in capturing isolated German positions.

London.—The reported rout of the Austrian forces in Serbia, the borders of which country they crossed triumphantly just two weeks ago, together with the steady advance of the German center in the direction of Warsaw on this, the third German invasion of Russian Poland, dominate the war news.

After occupying Lodz the Germans have been pushing to the northeast toward Warsaw along the railroad, and one dispatch from Petrograd estimates that they are only fifteen miles from the Polish capital, while another message from Petrograd, speculating on the possible fall of Warsaw, warns the Russian people that the abandonment of this city, if such a move becomes necessary, should be regarded as a strategic operation on the part of the Russians rather than a decided German victory. It will be recalled that a similar view was expressed when the Russians retired from Lodz.

Although conceding in effect the progress of the German center, the Russians, judging from dispatches reaching London, contend that the tide is running in their favor in the sanguinary fighting south of Cracow, where combined Austro-German forces are endeavoring to move northward. They declare, moreover, that they are holding in check the German forces pushing down toward Warsaw from East Prussia.

It would appear that the Servian retirement before the Austrians some weeks ago was in reality a movement for strategic purposes. Their sharp return blow, if the Nish reports are to be accepted, has been extraordinarily effective. After sustaining enormous losses the Austrians are being rapidly driven to the northwest, in the direction of their own borders.

NET CLOSING OVER RUSSIAN ARMY, SAYS GERMAN REPORT

Berlin, by wireless to London.—The following comment on the military situation in the east was made by the official press bureau:

"The laconic description by the general staff of the victory at Lodz as a thorough success raises expectations of more important subsequent results. "Owing to the proximity of Lodz to the railway connecting Czestochowa with the Silesian coal region and the Colorado coal fields dealt with the strike situations in their inception—had they been on the ground and in the hands of the American merchant marine—the future prosperity of our country."

MINE OWNERS COULD AVOID STRIKES, REPORTS WILSON

Washington.—Secretary Wilson of the Department of Labor, in his annual report, expresses the conviction that had the owners of the mine properties in the Calumet copper region and the Colorado coal fields dealt with the strike situations in their inception—"had they been on the ground and in the hands of the American merchant marine—the future prosperity of our country."

"Whatever may have been the responsibility of the workmen for the strike and its incidents," said Secretary Wilson, "the local management cannot be wholly acquitted, and upon the elementary principle of agency, as sound in morals as in law, ultimate responsibility must rest upon the owners."

Dresden Takes Refuge in Port

LONDON.—A dispatch to the Evening News from Valparaiso, Chile, says it is reported that the German cruiser Dresden has taken refuge in an inlet on the coast of Patagonia.

The Dresden is the only vessel of the German squadron which met the British fleet in the South Atlantic December 8, that has not been accounted for.

Denounce Eugenic Marriages

PORLAND (OR).—The Oregon law, which provides physical examination of male applicants for marriage licenses was denounced as a harmful failure at the State convention of county officials, which closed its annual session here. A resolution was adopted favoring the repeal of the law by the Legislature.

Says U. S. Needs Air Craft

WASHINGTON.—Two hundred naval air craft—100 for active service and 100 to be held in reserve—are urgently needed by the United States navy in its plan for national defense, as outlined in the recommendation of Captain Mark A. Bristol, chief of the aeronautical bureau of the Navy Department to the House committee.

Meeting of Farmers' Institute

Kelseyville.—The dates of the Farmers' Institute at Kelseyville have been fixed for January 5 and 6, 1915. Sessions will be held day and evening. The course of instruction will include pear and walnut culture, irrigation, alfalfa growing and other subjects of interest and importance to this community.

WORDS OF KING PETER ANIMATE SERVIANS TO VICTORY

PARIS.—The inspiring presence and word of King Peter of Servia are given as the chief cause of the successes recently achieved by the Servian army, says a dispatch from Nish, Servia, to the Matin.

"Soldiers! Heroes! Your old King has come to die with you for the fatherland, for Servia. Let us drive out the enemy."

These were the words of King Peter before the order for the general attack was given which resulted in the defeat of the Austrians. The aged King arrived on the battle front at the supreme moment when the country's fate hung in the balance. Mounted on a charger, he slowly rode through the Servian lines and was everywhere greeted with the wildest enthusiasm.

His words, according to the Nish dispatch, had the effect of a train of gunpowder, and the unforgettable battle began before Topola, the cradle of the Karađorđević dynasty, ten miles from Mount Opienatz, where rest the ashes of the Servian hero's royal

TERRIFIC BATTLE IS RAGING AT CRACOW

Russian Armies Closing in On Beseiged Fortress From Two Directions

London.—Supreme efforts to raise the siege of Cracow were being made by the German and Austrian forces, according to late reports.

It was reported that Archduke Frederick, who had command of the Austrian army, has yielded the direction of operations to the German General Staff, in the hope that it might accomplish what he has hitherto failed to do.

The fighting south of Cracow was developing into one of the greatest battles of the war.

The Germans and Austrians were trying desperately to break the Russian line by massed frontal attacks. The artillery fire was terrific. The Germans outran the Russian guns, but Cossacks, fighting on foot, were holding the Russian positions.

There are indications that German cavalry was endeavoring to cross the Carpathians from Galicia into Hungary, to relieve the situation in the latter country, where the Russians have been active for some time.

Petrograd reports told of tremendous losses inflicted by the Slavs on the German and Austrian infantry in a fight on the Lososina river.

COAST DEFENSES ARE EXPLAINED BY DANIELS

One Object of Canal is to Dispatch Warships to Coast

WASHINGTON.—The dominating necessity of dredging to maintain the strength of the great powers at sea, with submarine boats and submarine mines as minor essentials, was emphasized by Secretary Daniels before the House Naval Committee. He declared that if a foreign foe came to attack the United States the battleships would first be relied upon, and then would come the submarines and mines.

Daniels reiterated that the European war so far had demonstrated the wisdom of the naval program outlined for this session of congress.

"Battleships," he said, "are the only ships we can rely on to command the seas. We have today more larger and speedier, more improved battleships than ever before, with a greater tonnage than ever before. We have more guns, much larger and better, with greater range, than ever before, and far greater destructive power. Undoubtedly we have more complete auxiliary craft—submarines, torpedo-boats, much better coast defense, more men than ever before and the men far more efficient, better educated and more completely equipped—than in all the history of the country."

The naval strength of the Pacific was then taken up. Secretary Daniels testified there were no dreadnaughts there, and the Oregon, now being put into commission and more than twenty years old, was the only battleship there. He told of the cruisers, gunboats and torpedo flotilla there.

"Do you regard the Pacific Coast defenses as adequate for war?" asked Representative Stevens of California. "Oh, no."

Stevens asked if with no war craft of any importance on the Pacific, the secretary would feel safe. The secretary replied that one of the purposes of building the Panama Canal was to enable the dispatch of war vessels through it.

SUBMARINE INVADERS REPULSED AT DOVER

London.—Half a dozen German submarines made an attempt to enter Dover Admiralty harbor, according to a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company, and for half an hour the craft kept up a furious fusillade, firing at least two hundred shots. It is reported that two or three of the submarines were sunk, but no confirmation of this can be obtained.

The attempt was made under cover of early morning darkness and during a heavy rain storm. The first alarm, says the dispatch, was given by the firing of a naval gun, and soon all the batteries were in action.

Most Valuable Load of Freight

DENVER.—One carload of gold ore, 30,000 pounds, on which the essay would place a value of approximately $1,000,000, is being loaded at Cripple Creek for shipment to Denver. This is believed to be the most valuable car ever transported in this country.

Had Millions in Deeds

NEW YORK.—Deeds representing property now valued at more than $50,000,000 were found among the effects of a man who was found dead in a rooming house. He had lived in this room for the last week or so and was known as Edwin or Emory O'Dowd.

NEW YORK.—His horse falling under him, Thos. F. Ryan broke three ribs.

CRY WAS NOT SYMPATHETIC

Whimpering Uchin Was Distressed Because It Was His Banana Old Gentleman Slipped on.

"Boo-hoo, boo-hoo."

"Some one in distress," thought the kindly lady.

"Boo-hoo, boo-hoo, boo-hoo-o-o."

She hurried forward to the scene of the catastrophe, and was touched to find little lad crying over the misfortune of an elderly gentleman, who had slipped on a banana and was still sitting on it, collecting his scattered faculties together.

"Good little boy!" she exclaimed, patting him on the back. "I'm glad you feel sorry for the poor gentleman, and didn't laugh when he fell down and hurt himself. But you must try and dry your tears, dear, he isn't badly hurt."

"No, he ain't, boo-hoo-o, wuss buck," replied the whimpering urchin, vindictively. "I wish 'e was: It was my banana he did it on!"—Weekly Telegraph.

A Frost.

"Woodball 6498. Is the line busy, dearie?" said Mr. Gadders in a tone of voice he thought irresistible to all females.

"Nope, the line ain't busy," answered the operator, "but I am, so don't talk like a fathead during business hours."

Having paused long enough to administer this well-deserved rebuke, she connected Mr. Gadders with Brookfield 68794.

FOR THE HEAD OF THE HOUSE

Some Thoughts Concerning That Time of Tribulation Known as "Moving Day."

On moving day take a little tip from mother and:

Don't expect to find everything in its usual place until the van arrives. Some teamsters are superstitious about moving a gas range with a meal cooking on top of it.

Don't kick if you can't find the lower half of your favorite suit. Probably mother is wearing it.

Don't object if mother rolls you out of bed in the morning by pulling the sheet from under you. She had doubtless packed all the tablecloths.

Don't raise a row if your watch is missing. The baby has to have something to keep him quiet.

Don't complain if you find your box of choice cigars nearly empty. The team had to be tipped yesterday for helping to move the furniture so mother could take up the rugs. It's a safe gamble that the grocery boy will get the rest of them today.

Don't be too busy about what you have for breakfast. Tomorrow you may have to eat what you leave to day.

Don't be surprised if you find the house locked when you bring an unexpected friend home to dinner after telling mother you will eat down town yourself. You will find the family at the restaurant around the corner.

Don't wonder why mother is a trifle irritable when you return at midnight from a pleasant evening at the club, and find her still on the job. Doing things she had asked you to do. Some things get on a woman's nerves.

Don't be annoyed if there is no answer to your telephone call in the middle of the afternoon. The children are in school and mother is out doing the errands you promised to attend to and forget.

Don't grumble if the dinner looks rather picked-upish after you have said you didn't know whether you would come home to it or not. Indecision has wreaked greater things than dinners—Detroit Free Press.

Before New Orleans Battle. One hundred years ago the British naval forces were beginning to rendezvous in the Gulf of Mexico, preparatory to the campaign before New Orleans. Soon the calm waters of the gulf were to be the scene of a great gathering of men-of-war flying the British flag. All the vessels of Admiral Cockburn's fleet, recently engaged in the Chesapeake bay operations, were on their way to the gulf, together with other warships, transports and schooners, to the number of 50 vessels. At the head of the fleet was the big warship Tonnant, carrying the flag of Admiral Cockburn. On board the transports were 7,000 soldiers, who were to take part in the expedition against the southern city, and who were now in high good humor at the prospect of escaping the hardships of a winter campaign in the North.

Helping Kidneys By Clearing Blood

A Function Greatly Assisted By a Well-Known Remedy.

Most readers will be interested to more clearly understand why analysis of urine is so important. In the use of S. S. S. to purify the blood, the elimination of the myriad of fine blood vessels that make up the constructive tissues of the body is the first step from all over the body must pass through the kidneys. They act as testers and assayers. And according to what the physician writes, urine both as to quantity and materials, the health of the kidneys and the quality of the blood is determined. The catalytic energy of S. S. S. is shown in the urine. It is also demonstrated in the skin. And as the blood continues to sweep through the kidney, it continues to pass through S. S. S. acting as it does through all the avenues of elimination, shows a marked decrease in the amount of waste excreted by urine analysis. This assistance is a great relief to the kidneys. The body wants more and more to eliminate the emanations of their elimination is stimulated by the tonic action afforded the liver, lungs, skin and kidneys. Thus, in case of kidney trouble, the chronic throat, hiccups of voices, bronchitis, asthma and the myriad of other reflex indications of kidney trouble are removed. Your blood with S. S. NOVEL "MOVIE" USES Films to Be Employed in Educational Work.

Great Railroad Will Use Them to Show Result of Workman's Carelessness—Hope to Get Scenes Showing War's Horrors.

The New York Central railroad has had a moving picture "play" constructed around the story of a trainman's carelessness which resulted in an accident in which he was injured, and his family left needy. It has been carried around the great system and shown to employees, on whom it made a great impression. Other roads are going to borrow the films and carry the show over their lines, as a means of inculcating the solid principles and lessons of the "safety first" campaign.

It is announced that a series of moving picture shows will be provided at the Panama-Pacific exposition in San Francisco, to illustrate work of the government departments. The department of agriculture has for sometime been doing experimental work, looking to the extensive use of moving pictures to educate farmers, chicken raisers, dairymen, and others, in proper methods. The public health service work is especially susceptible to this kind of presentation in the effort to educate the public.

Commercial concerns have been studying the publicity possibilities of the films for a long time, and they are using them in some ways; but their use for pure commercial advertising has not thus far been made very effective. It is in the realm of educational effort that the "movies" will give the world its most striking demonstrations of the desirability of peace and the horrors of war.

FOUND CHAMPION MEAN MAN

Walter Long, One of the Best-Known Leading "Heavies," Administrates Rebuke That Must Have Stung.

Walter Long, one of the leading "heavies" with the Reliance and Majestic Mutual organizations, believes that he is the discoverer of the sturdiest man in the world.

Long is a powerful swimmer. At the beginning of the summer season he was named as one of the municipal life guards at Ocean park, working on Sundays and holidays when the crowds at the beach were the largest.

A swimmer who went out beyond the breaker line became caught in a rip tide and shouted for help. Long went to his assistance, and, after a hard struggle with the big breakers, succeeded in bringing the near drowning man ashore, where he was revived.

A short time later the rescued man, nattily dressed in his street clothes and wearing a big diamond, appeared and thanked Long for saving his life. "Here, have a good cigar on me," said the rescued individual as he proffered Long a dime. Long was on his way to purchase a sandwich and had a five-cent piece in his hand.

He accepted the proffered ten cents and returned the nickel with the statement, "Here is your change." The man whom Long rescued accepted the five cents and then beat a hasty retreat. Long had nailed the dime to the wall of his dressing room as a memento of the occasion.

Use of Films in German Army.

In connection with the preparations of Germany for war, it is interesting to learn that during the last 12 months newly-joined recruits in nearly every garrison town have received their initial instruction, in such minor military activities as mounting guard, tent erecting, bayonet drill and acting as a sentry, through the medium of specially prepared films taken at the instigation of the military authorities.

With regard to the "scientific" methods of the German army, the services of the cinematograph have been extensively used to assist instruction, particularly in connection with such work as bridge building, railway destruction, throwing up earthworks, the erection of barricades for street fighting, mine sprunging and pontoon work. In addition to this, for the purpose of popularizing the army, the German government had special films taken of last year's great military maneuvers, and picture palaces throughout the country have been allowed to exhibit these pictures without charge.—The Cinema.

For the cause that lacks assistance,
Against the wrong that needs resistance,
For the future in the distance,
And the good that we can do."

Everybody cheer up.

There is much "reforming" since election.

Six more days till Christmas—not "Xmas."

Thank goodness—there is no more poll tax to dodge.

But there are some other varieties of taxes that need fixin'.

Swear off today, then it will not be such a "struggle" New Year's.

If you cannot start the new year with a clean slate, "rub off" as much as you can.

That coach load of passengers at the S. P. mole had to stand for the vaccination gaff just the same—and they are still alive and kicking.

Those who do not find a city directory convenient, may readily refer to the delinquent tax list for complete information.—Goodwin's Weekly.

There are some fellows who can't pay, because they haven't got the money. But this is no excuse for "lying down" and not trying to make good.

This epoch of destruction in Europe must be followed by a period of repair—that's certain. Then times will be good. Everybody will have a chance to earn a living.

The Panama Canal is already doing an enormous business—more than 10,000 tons of freight daily pass through the canal. In the past three months the canal has accommodated as much freight as the Panama railroad in the past two years.

A Richmond man has invented a thinkographophone. It can be carried like a watch and has an alarm attachment that makes an awful fuss when one enters the postoffice and is about to forget to mail his wife's letters.

The people create the wealth which fills the markets, and furnish the dead who fill the trenches. It is up to the people to change this order of things. High power guns and modern fighting machines should not dominate a civilized world.

In any estimate of American ability to make the most of present opportunities for industrial expansion, no better measure of the inventive genius of this country can perhaps be found than in a moment's review of what is making the European war so terrible. Although we may be strictly neutral, yet from the heights above to the depths below we find American inventions "at the front"—the aeroplane, the magazine rifle and machine gun, the barbed wire, and the submarine and its torpedo. Our nation should lead as well in fashioning the tools of peace.

OUR KIND OF A MAN.

The kind of man for you and me! He faces the world unfailingly, And smites, as long as the wrong side resists.

With a knuckled faith, and force-like fists;

He lives the life he is preaching of And loves where most there is need of love;

His voice is clear to the deaf man's ears,

And his face sublime through the blind man's tears.

DR. JORDAN WARNS ERIC SWANSON NOT TO ALLOW HIS BOY TO DRINK AFTER HIM.

is laid in a small village the chief industries of which are some potteries owned by Harrison Pratt. He also owns a group of dilapidated tenements, in which most of his employees live. Dr. Jordan, health officer of the village, is struck with the prevalence of tuberculosis and on investigation finds that the insalubrious working conditions in the Pratt potteries, together with the unhealthy state of the tenement homes of the workmen, have most to do with the spread of the disease. He calls the matter to the attention of Pratt, who rebuffs him.

Meanwhile Dr. Jordan has fallen in love with Eloise, the daughter of Harrison Pratt, and she has become interested in his work, particularly that at the preventorium for children from tuberculous families. Three times Jordan appeals to Pratt, and each time he is rebuffed. Finally, in despair between his love for Eloise and his duty, he exposes the conditions he has discovered through articles in the newspapers, in which he calls the Pratt potteries and tenements a modern "Temple of Moloch," in that they feed young children to the God of Greed. When Eloise, who is ignorant of the Pratt's conduct, asks him to see her, he rebuffs her.
